

Endorsement

This Endorsement forms part of this Policy. Definition used in this Endorsement where defined in the Policy shall have the same meaning as in the Policy except where specifically provided for in this Endorsement. This endorsement is effective on the effective date of this policy until the expiry date for one year only and will be terminated upon renewal.

Mental Health Support

If during the Period of Insurance, the Insured Person is diagnosed with stress disorders, directly caused or contributed to by working from home arrangements. We shall pay the Insured Person any reasonable and necessary psychological counselling expenses in Hong Kong as recommended by a Psychologist up to the amount HK$1,000 within this Policy year per Insured Person.

Psychologist means a practitioner of clinical psychology duly registered at the place where he or she renders psychotherapy or counselling services but excluding one who is the Insured, the Insured Person, or the Partner or relative or the employer of the Insured / Insured Person.

In the event of a claim being made or arising under this Policy, please note the impact on the 30% No Claim Premium Refund Benefit.

Other terms, conditions and exclusions are subject to the Personal Accident Policy wording.
